July 27, 2009 (Arlington, VA) - On 27 July, American Innovations, Inc. was invited to participate in the Technology Expo at the Pentagon Conference Center in Arlington, VA. This event was put on to give Pentagon personnel from the Office of the Secretary of Defense, the Joint Staff and other departments the opportunity to be introduced to some of the newest and most innovative technologies available from industry. The American Innovations, Inc. XD-2i was the only Explosives Detection System to participate, and it received fantastic feedback and many invitations for follow-up discussions.

Visitors to the booth learned how the XD-2i Explosives Detector could add a tactical advantage through increased field detection and identification of explosives and attacking the network of terrorists involved in the storage, making, assembling, handling, transportation and emplacement of explosives and IEDs.

American Innovations offered demonstrations and instruction on the XD-2i Portable Explosives Detector, a lightweight, fast, safe, and easy to use explosives detector that can detect the full spectrum of commercial, military and homemade explosives, trace and bulk, in a single sample. Explosives Detection experts as well as participants with no prior experience were impressed with the broad capabilities offered by the XD-2i and with the fact that this explosives detector requires no warm-up, no calibration, and no clear-down after detection. Equally important to those interested was the XD-2i's size, ease-of-use, incredible sensitivity, ability to run over 200 tests on commercially available AA batteries, and no false positives on common interferences and masking agents problematic to many other explosives detectors being issued to our troops in theatre.

American Innovations, Inc. is always grateful for the opportunity to participate in events such as the Pentagon Technology Expo, where we can help introduce tools such as the XD-2i to the people who can get it to our war fighters where it will help save lives and defeat the enemy.
