

Ingersoll Rand contracts American Innovations for Security Checkpoint

Source: American Innovations, Inc. News Room

October 13, 2006 (Spring Valley, NY) - American Innovations, Inc. received a product and services contract from Ingersoll Rand to supply a turnkey security checkpoint at one of their customer's new courthouses. The location of the facility has been withheld to protect the privacy and security interests of Ingersoll Rand's customer. The referenced security checkpoint incorporated the American Innovations CXIS-2517 computerized x-ray inspection system and the Garrett PD-6500i walk through metal detector. Installation and training services are scheduled to be conducted during the week of November 20th as required by Ingersoll Rand's customer.

American Innovations is honored to have the opportunity to work with Ingersoll Rand and appreciates the confidence they have placed in our security team to satisfy their customer's security requirement.
